Visit historic towns and discover our heritage

From coal mines to canals and railroads, from Amish communities to Hollywood connections, Indiana County is a fascinating place to visit and tour.

Our history began in 1727 when French trader James LeTort first settled in an area formerly known as Sharp's Mills and established a trading post for Native Americans. Known today as SHELOCTA, this town's name was derived from the Iroquois Indian language meaning "Shainee Cabin."

Nearby in the mid 1700's, settlers began to establish homesteads on lands previously owned by six Indian nations in HOMER CITY. Named after the ancient Greek poet, Homer, the town was designed by William Wilson in 1854. Homer City is now home to The Homer City Electric Generating Station. Featuring the highest smoke stack in the nation at 1,216 feet, the plant receives coal from local strip and deep mines via trucks and railroads to serve the eastern seaboard.

Originally known as Canoe Place, the town of CHERRY TREE is the area where Indiana, Cambria and Clearfield Counties merge and where canoe travel on the Susquehanna West Branch ended. Today there still stands a large monument erected by the state in 1894 at the location of a large wild cherry tree from which the town's name was derived. The monument also marks the boundary of the Indian lands that were purchased at the Treaty of Fort Stanwix involving Thomas and Richard Penn, sons of William Penn.

When you drive through "the field on a hill" you will be in the town of ARMAGH, which holds the distinction of being the oldest town in the county. The town was settled in 1792 by eight families led by James and Margaret Jane Graham. The town was also the first in the county to establish a post office back in 1805 with Thomas Kerr as the postmaster.

The town of CLYMER has roots tracing back to George Clymer, who was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. When the town was founded in 1905 it was named after this historic individual, who also donated land about 7 miles west of Clymer for what is now Indiana, the county seat. Clymer was once one of the largest coal mining towns in Indiana County and the main street is named Franklin Street in honor of Benjamin Franklin. Another noteworthy site in town is a memorial to the 44 mine workers whose lives were lost during a tragic explosion at Sample Run Mine in 1926. Visitors can see the memorial plaque on the Clymer Borough Building.

GLEN CAMPBELL, founded in 1889, was the first coal mining town in the county. It was named for Cornelius Campbell, the first superintendent of the Glenwood Coal Company, the enterprise which initiated mining operations in the area. By 1900, Glen Campbell was the third largest town in Indiana County due to the number of services, businesses and stores that developed the town and attracted people from smaller mining communities. A combination of factors including the exhaustion of timber supplies and dwindling amounts of coal output left Glen Campbell in financial distress.

Another town known for its influence in the coal industry is COMMODORE. Founded in 1919 by Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corp., Commodore was a model mining town. During the early 1900's this town was further advanced than most with modern conveniences such as sewage and running water. Today you can still see some of the buildings crafted of concrete blocks that were produced in town.

Once an important stop along the Western division of the Pennsylvania Main Line Canal, today SALTSBURG continues to be the home of numerous canal-era houses, buildings and churches. Earning its name from the early salt industry along the Conemaugh and Kiskiminetas Rivers, Saltsburg was founded in 1816. The canal in Saltsburg connected the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh,

...serving as a major route for transporting both goods and passengers.

Continuing along the Conemaugh River to where it once intersected with the Northern Turnpike, visitors enter the town of BLAIRSVILLE. A slackwater pool allowed access from the canal basin at Bairdstown to docks, warehouses, and boatyards at Blairsville, which was founded in 1818. Local industries, including foundries, coal mines, and salt works, prospered with the introduction of this cheap and reliable means of transportation. The first branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad existing in Indiana County was built in Blairsville in 1851. In 1860, the Western Pennsylvania Railroad was organized and headquartered here, creating an important rail center in Indiana County.

Even though some people may consider themselves visitors of Indiana County, they can always stop by and feel at "home." A town received the unique name of HOME when the town's first post office was located in the actual home of Hugh Cannon. When the mail was brought into his home, it was dumped on the kitchen table to be sorted, giving it the name "Home Post Office." Also located here is the PA historical marker denoting the childhood home of Edward Abbey - author and defender of wilderness.

Traveling toward the north central part of the county is the town of MARION CENTER. Founded in 1851 by John Park, Park chose the name "Marion" in honor of the Revolutionary hero General Francis Marion. In 1890 the name was changed to Marion Center. Linton Park, son of John Park, was an eccentric individual, the inventor of the Venetian blind and a painter. His famous painting, "The Flax Scutching," is featured in the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

Visitors can stop by the town of SMICKSBURG and feel as though they have stepped back in time. Smicksburg is the home of a large Amish population which has grown to over 800 settlers since 1961. Smicksburg was founded in May of 1827 by Lutheran minister Reverend J. George Schmick. The Amish lead a daily life similar to people of past centuries. Driving visitors can experience sharing modern day roads with horse-drawn buggies throughout the community but please be careful to respect their way of life and take no pictures of those in the Amish community.

Make sure to visit Indiana County's historic district of DOWNTOWN INDIANA. Within Indiana Borough, which was chartered in 1805 as the county seat, visitors can see buildings dating back to as early as 1824. Indiana was the birthplace of Hollywood legend Jimmy Stewart. Be sure to note the six properties individually listed on the National Register of Historic Places including the Old Borough Hall, the Old Courthouse, the Old Jail and Sheriff's Office, James Mitchell House, the Silas M. Clark House, and the National Guard Armory. The Indiana University of Pennsylvania is home to two other National Register listed properties - John Sutton Hall and Breezedale.

At one time, Indiana County was home to at least 48 documented covered bridges. Today, four COVERED BRIDGES remain in the county, all of which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places and are located within 20 miles of each other.

Built in 1910, the HARMON BRIDGE cost $525 to construct. The bridge is 45 feet long and was named after Civil War veteran J.S. Harmon. Built by John R. Carnahan, Harmon Bridge is constructed with Town lattice trusses.

Enjoy the beautiful scenery surrounding the KINTERSBURG BRIDGE, which was built in 1877 and named for Isaac Kinter, a local shopkeeper. J.S. Fleming erected the bridge over Crooked Creek at a cost of $893. The Kintersburg Bridge is the only Howe truss bridge in Indiana County and one of only five Howe truss bridges remaining in the state of Pennsylvania. It is 68 feet long.

Stunning wildflowers provide the perfect framework for photos of the THOMAS BRIDGE, which was built in 1879 at a cost of $545 and completely reconstructed in 1998 at a cost of slightly more than $1 million dollars. Amos Thomas built the original bridge, which is the longest of the Indiana County covered bridges at a length of 75 feet. The original bridge was constructed with Town lattice trusses. Today, this Thomas Bridge is the only bridge that is still drivable.

The oldest of Indiana County's covered bridges is the TRUSAL

BRIDGE, built in 1870 (also known as Dice's Bridge). At 41 feet long, the Trusal Bridge is the shortest of Indiana County's covered bridges. It was named after Robert Trusal, a nearby property owner.

Indiana County is proud to hold the prestigious title of "THE CHRISTMAS TREE CAPITAL OF THE WORLD." Back in 1918, Murray C. Stewart, Sam Dible, Walter Schroth, Silas Streams, Fred Musser, and others were the first to plant various pines and spruces for the purpose of growing Christmas trees as a crop. The pioneering efforts of those individuals, favorable growing conditions, thousands of acres of available land and easy accessibility to major shipping routes aided in growing Christmas Trees as a crop. Also assisting in the success was the hard work and dedication of the INDIANA COUNTY CHRISTMAS TREE GROWERS ASSOCIATION.

Helping to refine the harvesting of Christmas trees was Beryl Johnston and his father Clair, who in 1956 invented the idea for a motorized Christmas tree baler. The baler continued to be modified until it was first used in the field in 1959 and then produced and sold beginning in 1960. The last baler was made around 1968. The first "Johnston Baler" produced in 1959 is still in use at Johnston's Nursery.

Throughout the seven to twelve years required for trees to reach the desired size to be sold, they are pruned and shaped several times to help them have the conical shape associated with Christmas trees.

During the holiday season, visitors can stop by one of the many local tree farms to choose and cut their own Christmas tree. Indiana County Christmas Tree Growers produce more than one million trees annually, including Scotch Pine, Blue Spruce and Douglas and Fraser Fir.

Follow us on a tour of our numerous museums, unique attractions and specialty shops

Begin your memorable tour of the county in downtown Indiana, the birthplace of an American icon JAMES M. STEWART.

The JIMMY STEWART MUSEUM is devoted to the famous actor's film, radio, television and military career as well as highlights from this civic leader's life. Learn about his family's history in western Pennsylvania. See artifacts from his days in the military and pieces of memorabilia from his days in Hollywood. Jimmy personally selected a few of his favorite keepsakes from his career to display at the museum, such as a Winchester commemorative rifle and a propeller blade autographed by the cast and crew of "Flight of the Phoenix".

View famous films and clips in the atmosphere of a 1930's vintage movie theatre complete with velvet drapes while also enjoying a state-of-the-art sound and projection system, which was donated by Universal City Studios of Hollywood.

From the museum's windows, visitors can see the bronze statue dedicated to Jimmy on his 75th birthday. Jimmy Stewart himself unveiled the statue in 1983 during the festive celebration which included a fly-over of Air Force jets and a telephone call from President Ronald Reagan.

Directly across Philadelphia Street from the statue marks the former location of J.M. Stewart & Sons Hardware, where young Jimmy worked and proud father Alex later displayed Jimmy's Academy Award statue.

In addition to touring the museum, visitors can stroll through DOWNTOWN INDIANA to view other points of interest in Jimmy's life. See the steps to the house where he was born and his boyhood home which is located on Vinegar Hill. This house continues to remain a private residence today.

Additional sites include Jimmy Stewart Boulevard and the Victorian-era courthouse that was featured, along with a portrait of Mr. Stewart, on the cover of a 1945 Life Magazine. The magazine cover commemorated his return to civilian life and acting at the end of World War II.

Located on INDIANA UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA'S campus, the UNIVERSITY MUSEUM provides opportunities to discover the art and cultural history of the area. The museum is located in John Sutton Hall, a nationally registered historic landmark. Stop by the museum to see their collections, exhibitions and educational and public programs. The museum's vast collection of items emphasizes contemporary and historic fine and folk art and material history. Additional art and history exhibits can be viewed at KIPP GALLERY, located in Sprowls Hall.

Call to schedule a tour of Indiana County's very own medieval castle, DANE CASTLE. Visitors truly feel as though they have stepped back to the 12th century as they cross the drawbridge that spans a dry moat. Dane Castle brings to life the times of knights and princesses, wizards and dragons.

Upon entering the Great Hall of Dane Castle, a medieval Norman keep, you will see numerous suits of armor and an assortment of weapons. Visitors also have the opportunity to see the castle's King and Queen throne chairs, collections of chain mail and select pieces of royal art such as Isis, a five foot tall blue dragon with a chess board on her back. See artifacts and memorabilia from Greek, Roman, Viking, Arabic, Egyptian and Oriental cultures.

The rolling hillsides and sprawling farm lands are not only picturesque and breathtaking, but also a way of living and source of income for many of our residents.

Plan a visit to the local wineries for some relaxing fun and fascinating information on wine production in Indiana County.

Visit the largest and oldest winery in Southwestern Pennsylvania, WINDGATE VINEYARDS & WINERY, which opened its doors in 1987. This award winning winery located in Smicksburg offers group tours and tastings. The winery produces a number of French hybrid grapes and bottles over 6,000 gallons of wine every year from its estate grown grapes. In addition to shopping for your own bottle of wine and customizing a label, find unique gifts and wine-making supplies at the winery. The vineyards enjoy a microclimate well-suited for growing wine grapes due to the elevation, western slope exposure, and persistent air drainage, which provide warming in the winter and cooling in the summer. These factors make Indiana County a great home for wineries.

Located near Elderton, MONTGOMERY UNDERGROUND WINERY has approximately 6 acres of vineyard, with 18 different grape varieties. The owners' home is built on a portion of the family farm and the winery is below the house and underground, hence the reason for the name. Visitors can choose from 19 different fruit and grape wines, ranging from dry to semi-sweet. Beer and winemaking supplies are also available.

When in the Blairsville area, visit RASPBERRY ACRES WINERY, a small winery producing award winning berry and grape wines. Enjoy the picturesque country setting, including the patio area located around the winery's lake. Customize a label for your bottle of wine at WALNUT HILL WINERY, also located in Blairsville. This winery began as a hobby for a brother and sister which has grown into a partnership that produces award-winning reds, whites and blushes. Special-order wine baskets are also available. Relax with a glass of wine at one of their many special events.

Ideal for visitors passionate about the arts, Indiana County is home to both performing arts and talented artisans.

INDIANA ARTS COUNCIL promotes local artists and events while also providing a resource center for artists. The group works with area organizations and businesses to bring art into public spaces.

See a drama, mystery, comedy or musical performed by THE INDIANA PLAYERS, a non-profit community theater. THE LIVELY ARTS, presented by IUPUI College of Fine Arts, offers nearly 200 performing and visual art events each year. “ON STAGE... Take a class at WINDBLOWN STUDIO in Rochester Mills, where you can learn to throw pottery on the potter's wheel. Make your own cereal bowl, coffee mug, tea bowl or invent an object. Stop by LITTLE MAHONING CREEK POTTERY in Smicksburg where they specialize in making wood and salt fired pottery.

While in Marchand, stop by the SILVERBROOK FIBER ARTS & SHEEPSKIN store. Shop in an 1860 restored home with ten rooms filled with yarns, looms, spinning wheels, fibers, dyes and sheepskin products. Take a spinning class. In addition to sheepskins, visitors can now shop for "green" products, such as bamboo, corn, soybean, milkweed and seaweed, available for spinning and yarn for knitting, crochet, weaving and crafts.

Schedule a day of pampering and relaxation at the spa in Indiana County. At the CHESTNUT RIDGE SPA & SALON in Blairsville, choose from traditional services as well as exclusive, exotic treatments like the caviar & pearls facial and Hungarian honey massage.

Enjoy food, herbs and plants grown right here in Indiana County at our notable stores, farms and markets.

Stop by SMICKSBURG COMMUNITY CHEESE and sample one of 65 varieties of cheese. 80,000 pounds of fresh milk from Amish farmers in the northern portion of Indiana County spreading into Armstrong County, is used each week in the cheese making process. The milk is retrieved in 10-gallon metal canisters from the farmers. The milk is then processed and aged according to the kind of cheese that is being made. Finally, once the cheese is cured and aged it's cut into smaller blocks to be sold.

Stop by the only place in Indiana County that grows vegetables hydroponically, YARNICK'S FARM. Inside this vegetable farm's greenhouse, you can see vegetables growing without soil in a nutrient-rich water solution in a controlled environment. Step into the farm market for a large Plan a visit to a farm market and enjoy lunch at REEGER'S FARM & CAFÉ. Visitors can find numerous types of fresh produce as well as homemade items from their bake shop. Find a vast array of gifts in their garden gift shop and enjoy the warm atmosphere of their greenhouse.

Enjoy a wide variety of fresh produce from various Indiana County farmers at the INDIANA COUNTY FARMERS MARKET. During the summer months, a group of local farmers selling their home-grown farm products gathers in Indiana and Blairsville for a weekly market.

Located near Blairsville, PLANT-IT EARTH GREENHOUSE boasts a large selection of tomato and pepper plant varieties. The greenhouse specializes in shape perennials. Enjoy the nature trail surrounded by perennial beds filled with plants grown at the greenhouse.

Stop by STUTZMAN FARM AT BERRY HILL in Penn Run for homegrown blueberries and red raspberries. Visitors can pick their own berries or choose from a selection of freshly picked berries.

Specializing in herbs, GEORGETTE'S HERB GARDENS & ANTIQUES has a nursery that also includes unusual potted perennials, antiques, collectibles and original garden art.

Start a family tradition and visit one of the Christmas Tree Farms in Indiana County to choose from freshly cut trees or cut your own tree from the field. In the Creekside area, visit GREGG VANHORN'S CHRISTMAS TREE FARM. Choose a tree at FLEMING'S CHRISTMAS TREE FARMS, LCC in Indiana and New Alexandria. See numerous gift shop items available at the New Alexandria location. At the Indiana location, families can take a horse-drawn wagon ride to the Christmas tree fields on specified days, shop for handcrafted crafts, and eat delicious food at the gift shop. GAMBLE TREE FARM in Shelocta offers hay wagon rides to the Christmas tree fields. Relax with a cup of hot cocoa in the barn, which is filled with handmade baked goods and crafts. Conclude your day with a visit with Santa. Try both public golf courses in Indiana. INDIAN SPRINGS GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB features an 18-hole public golf course, banquet facility and public dining on certain days throughout the week.

MEADOW LANE GOLF COURSE is an 18-hole public golf course with a snack bar, pro shop, driving range and putting green.

Indiana County is home to great parks, scenic trails and beautiful natural sites. INDIANA COUNTY PARKS & TRAILS operates 2,600 acres of these parks, trails and sites.

While in Ernest, enjoy the perfect place for outdoor family fun at BLUE SPRUCE PARK. Filled with 650 acres, the park has six miles of hiking and cross-country skiing trails, two playgrounds, a volleyball court, a horseshoe court, and areas for games and sports. Enjoy hunting on the grounds or fishing in the 12-acre lake stocked with trout. The park also contains two lodges and four pavilions available for rental.

The park is a must see for those interested in bird-watching since it has the distinction of being one of the best birding locations in the county due to its excellent Spring migration. Visitors can view the latest floral and plant selections at the INDIANA COUNTY MASTER GARDENER'S GARDEN. It is also the site of a historical marker honoring Bernice Gera, a native of the area, who was the first female umpire to work in a professional baseball league.

Visitors can enjoy boating and fishing for bluegill, bass, catfish, muskellunge, walleye and northern pike at HEMLOCK LAKE, also known as Straight Run Dam. At a length of 650 feet, the dam is 40 feet high and 33 feet deep retaining the 62-acre lake. Spend time fishing on the lake, which is leased from the Pennsylvania Fish & Boat Commission, and enjoy picnicking and hiking in the 205-acre park. Try ice fishing during the winter months.

Stop by PINE RIDGE PARK in Blairsville which includes 635 acres complete with hiking trails, as well as pavilions and a lodge available for rental. Tom's Run, a scenic mountain stream, runs through the park in an area filled with picnic tables, grills and playgrounds. During the winter, visitors can go cross-country skiing in the park.

Relax at a summer concert at MEMORIAL PARK in Indiana. The park, once a church cemetery, is home to a life-size statue of a World War I doughboy. The statue was erected in 1923 under the leadership of Alex Stewart, father of the actor James Stewart.

See a breathtaking 45-foot waterfall at BUTTERMILK FALLS, located near Clyde. At one time, the area surrounding the falls was owned by Fred McFeely, the grandfather of Fred Rogers. Have a picnic in the pavilion area while enjoying the beautiful scenery.

Stop by TUNNELVIEW and see an example of turn-of-the-century engineering. Built in 1864, this 16-acre historic site is neighbor to the Conemaugh Dam near Saltsburg. Look for the high-water mark that indicates the level of the 1936 Johnstown flood.

Hike along the creek that was once used by Shawnee and Delaware Indians for transportation and fishing inside the BLACKLICK VALLEY NATURAL AREA. This area houses three tracts. The PARKER TRACT encompasses 300 acres and six miles of hiking and cross-country skiing trails. The CALDWELL and CLARKE RUN TRACTS form 413 acres of land without established hiking trails.

Whether you like to run, jog, walk or ride your bike, Indiana County is home to numerous trails perfect for a trek through nature. The HOODLEBUG TRAIL connects Black Lick to Indiana along a 10-mile stretch. This trail follows the abandoned Indiana branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which at one time was used for a self-propelled passenger coach, known locally as a "Hoodlebug." At 38 miles, the GHOST TOWN TRAIL is the longest trail running through Indiana and Cambria Counties.

See two historic sites along the Ghost Town Trail, the BUENA VISTA and ELIZA FURNACES. Have your picture taken in front of the 30-foot high Buena Vista Furnace, which was built in 1847. At one time, the furnace used iron ore, limestone and charcoal to produce 400 tons of pig iron per year. As you near Vintondale, see the 1846 Eliza Furnace which at one time employed 90 people and used 45 mules to produce 1,080 tons of iron each year. The furnace retains its original heat exchange piping.

In addition to the trails and parks overseen by the INDIANA COUNTY PARKS & TRAILS SYSTEM, there are numerous other parks and trails located throughout the entire county.

Go for a hike in the southern portion of Indiana County on the WEST PENN TRAIL. This 16-mile trail goes from the Westinghouse trailhead, near Blairsville, to Avonmore, near Saltsburg. The trail is divided into the Conemaugh River Lake Section and the Saltsburg Section. See four spectacular stone-arch bridges featuring beautiful views of the river on the Conemaugh section. Along the Saltsburg section, hikers enter the woods and can see canal and railroad remnants.

Visit the WHITES WOODS NATURE CENTER located outside of Indiana Borough, for cross-country skiing and hiking trails in portions of the 250-acres of woodlands.

During the summer months, enjoy the outdoor swimming pool at MACK PARK. Try the 90-foot figure-8 water slide or the pre-school wading area for younger visitors. Also known as the “fairgrounds,” the park is home to 5 ball parks and a skate park. For a family picnic area in Cherry Tree, visit CANOE CREEK PLACE PARK. While you’re in the southern portion of the county, visit SALTSBURG

CANAL PARK. Both parks provide beautiful scenery that is family friendly and sure to provide visitors with a relaxing outing.

Visit the multipurpose WHITE TOWNSHIP RECREATION COMPLEX / S&T BANK ARENA in Indiana for a wide variety of activities. The facilities include four full-size baseball fields, two soccer fields, a playground, walking trails, tennis courts, concession stand, restroom facilities, parking, two basketball courts, a picnic area and an area for seniors.

Be sure you allow time to enjoy everything that our county’s state park has to offer.

YELLOW CREEK STATE PARK is the perfect vacation spot for boaters and anglers. 2,981 acres of park land surround a picturesque 720-acre lake set along the scenic Chestnut Ridge of the Allegheny Mountains. Completed in 1976, the park is named for Yellow and Little Yellow Creeks, which create the lake and have substantial amounts of yellow clay in the banks and on the bottom of the creek beds.

See the YELLOW CREEK DAM from the 2 ½ -mile DAMSITE TRAIL, take photos of the stunning wildflowers along the half-mile LAUREL RUN TRAIL and see a wide variety of habitats on the two-mile RIDGETOP TRAIL. The trails are also part of a network of over 15 miles of recently added intermediate single track mountain bicycle trail.

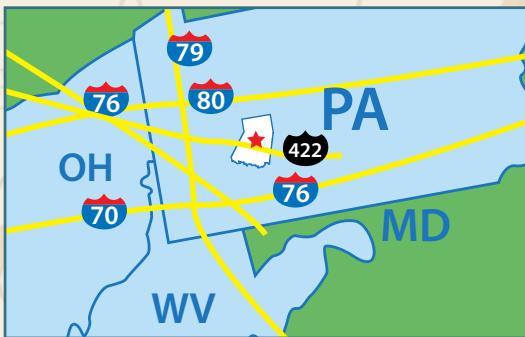

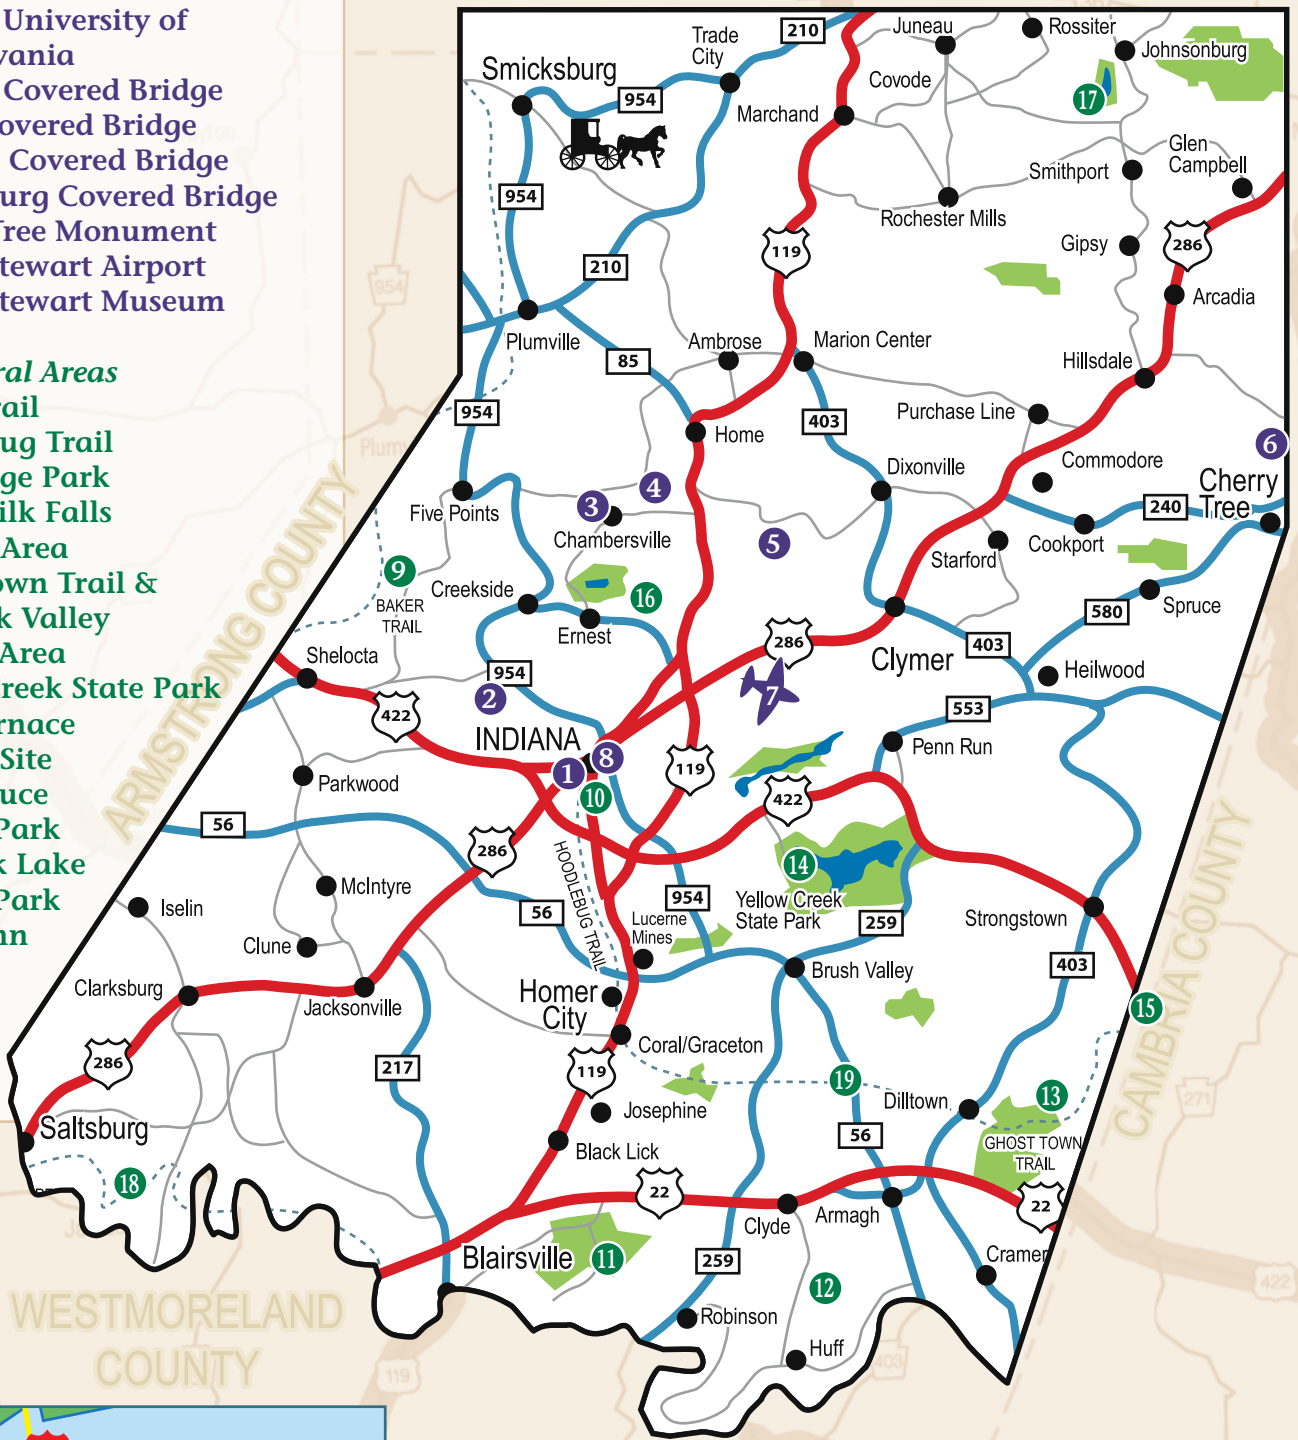

Stay the night in one of the parks’ 6 camping cottages or 4 yurts. Each offers a stunning view of the lake. Visitors can also contact Yellow Creek State Park to learn about the numerous educational programs that are offered from April through October. Further recreational activities include boating, hunting, fishing and picnicking. When visiting from late-May to mid-September, go swimming and enjoy the 800-foot beach. During the winter months, Yellow Creek provides ice fishing, sledding, tobogganing, snowmobiling in the
